- Introduction Scene 1

PETS AT CHRISTMAS
Thinking of buying pets as Christmas presents? SUE, R. HAZLE
Buyer of Harrods Zoo provides some hints.

Marion and Maria, the two lion cubs, who have taken over our Zoo, are proving a great attraction. Two months old when they came to us from a Devon zoo, they have settled down very well. It will no doubt be a difficult task to find a home for them where they will be completely happy, but, as in the case of our ponies, we feel confident it will work out well. Visitors are generally surprised that these surprising, fiery creatures grow into animals requiring an increasing amount of time and attention to maintain the feeling of security so essential to any 'tame wild animal.' Domestic kittens are obviously a wiser choice for Christmas presents, together with puppies, guinea pigs, hamsters, budgerigars, etc. But we in the Pet Shop believe it is not altogether wise to have a new pet in the home at Christmas. It is often better to promise an animal or bird but to have it
